Ms. Loudon honorably served in the US Army for 11 years. Upon returning home, she decided that even though she was no longer serving her country, that she would use her knowledge, and niche for finding things into something amazingly awesome, and became a recruiter. Since making that decision, Ms. Loudon has used her niche, determination, and drive to staff various government organizations.

Ms. Loudon is an active part of her community. She sits on the Board of Directors for Park Place Child Life Center in Norfolk, VA., a non-profit organization that helps transform the lives of underserved and homeless children through art-based programming that is designed to advance literacy and encourages a love of learning.
